Logistics

Broad Fuels provides a full range of pan-European logistics services with over 50 years experience in shipping materials, by land, sea and air, we have forged long lasting relationships with some of Europe's largest and most established transport logistics providers.

This established network infrastructure enables Broad to provide our clients with a robust and flexible network with guaranteed capacity across most major European destinations.

Due to the volume of material which Broad exports, we are able to provide our clients with extremely competitive rates, whether looking at a single point to point delivery or putting together a more comprehensive bulk haulage solution.

The network of hauliers used by Broad is subject to a strict compliance process, as are all suppliers to the Broad Group. This process ensures that all hauliers hold valid waste carriers permits and that we have full visibility of all shipments from collection through to delivery, this is managed through a secure online tracking portal.

As new off takers are established new transport routes are required, which has also resulted in the recent use of the wide reaching and efficient European rail transport network.

Shipping Logistics

Broad Fuels is continually developing new and innovative shipping solutions, which includes the use of different routes, vessels and equipment to provide our clients with a range of effective export solutions.

The exponential Growth seen in the alternative fuels export market, specifically the areas of baled RDF / SRF fuels, has resulted in the reduction of negative leg capacity (when a vessel returns having delivered cargo) on traditional routes.

Our dedicated logistics team has developed a number of additional shipping routes; these routes have helped to provide our clients with enhanced flexibility and overall efficiency. Our ability to optimize transport routes enables our client management team to control logistical costs. This is extremely beneficial to our clients who are looking to establish a broader base of off-takers in developing countries.

Our close working relationship with the shipping brokers means that smaller scale producers are also able to realize the benefits of the International export market.

In order to provide full auditability for our clients, Broad Fuels provides a secure asset tracking service, which enables our clients to track and trace their shipment from point of collection, loading to delivery at it's final destination.
